Dear Dr. Graham,

I am writing to submit our manuscript, “Do Attitudes Toward Sex Effect Sexual Satisfaction: A Double-Moderated Mediation Model of Pornography Use and Sexual Satisfaction,” for consideration in The Journal of Sex Research.

This research examines the moderating effect of attitudes toward sex on sexual satisfaction when the frequency of pornography use increases and sexual shame and moral disapproval of pornography use are present. The Journal of Sex Research, a leading journal in the field, is a natural fit for this work due to its focus on sex, relationships, and other contemporary issues in sexual science.

We believe this research will be of interest to JSR’s readership because it introduces and explains a new aspect of pornography use's effect on relationships that has not previously been addressed. Readers will appreciate the clinical implications of understanding the individual factors leading to lower sexual satisfaction in a relationship. They will find application in helping individuals and couples grow in understanding and relationship satisfaction.

The manuscript is original, not previously published, and not under consideration by any other publication. We have no conflicts of interest to disclose.

Please address all correspondence to rdwagoner1@liberty.edu

Thank you for your consideration,
