Please respond to the following questions:

- What are the strengths of this intern?
If this intern was asked a question or presented with a case that he wasn't familiar with he would seek information from others. He never said anything like I don't know what to do about that. Also, this intern would not just give answers or advice without making me think things through first.
- What are the areas of improvement for this intern?
For me specifically, it would have been nice if this intern knew a little bit more about play therapy as that is what I am specializing in and the only clients I have are children.
- Do you feel that this intern helped you to develop as a counselor? If so, how? If not, how could they have contributed more to your development as a counselor?
Yes, I do. He made me think about things, he encouraged me to go back and look at some of my sessions and think about them from an outside perspective and see if I could come up with any alternatives on my own.

Please respond to the following questions:

4. What are the strengths of this intern?

Ray instills confidence in supervisees through encouragement, validation, and providing useful information. Ray has an empathetic and comfortable presence that allows vulnerability and growth in supervision. Ray provides resources and feedback on cases that can be applied in session.

5. What are the areas of improvement for this intern?

If I had to suggest an area for improvement, I would suggest structuring supervision around reflection, mindfulness, or activities to support the supervisee's professional or personal development. Ray does a great job allowing the supervisee to come prepared, meeting us where we are at, and sharing what we need help with.

6. Do you feel that this intern helped you to develop as a counselor? If so, how? If not, how could they have contributed more to your development as a counselor?

Ray has helped me develop as a counselor by working with me to address countertransference and meaning-making with long-term clients. Ray has provided specific feedback by watching recorded sessions and processing them in supervision.
